

UNEMPLOYMENT RESOURCES

What is Benefits.gov?

As the official benefits website of the U.S. government, Benefits.gov is dedicated to connecting citizens in need to assistance programs. With information on over 1,000 government benefits, the program you're looking for could be just a few steps away.

How Can Benefits.gov Help You?

Benefits.gov can help you identify what benefits you may be eligible for and how to apply to receive these benefits. As a person who is unemployed, you face unique circumstances and may qualify for assistance with your healthcare, access to job training and placement services, among other benefits.

What Can You Expect to Find?

Here are a few benefits for which you may be eligible:

-  Unemployment Insurance, which provides unemployment benefits to workers who lose their job through no fault of their own.
-  The Disaster Unemployment Assistance program provides unemployment benefits to individuals who have become unemployed as a result of a Presidentially declared major disaster.
-  Medicaid provides free or low cost healthcare services to eligible people with low incomes.
-  American Job Centers which provide high-quality services like career guidance and training for job seekers and businesses to find the help they need in one place.

You can explore and check your eligibility for these and more on Benefits.gov.

Begin Your Search

Start the Benefit Finder, a confidential questionnaire that will pre-screen your eligibility for government benefits. You will be able to view a list of benefits that you may be eligible for based on how you respond.

Browse benefits by category and filter results by state, browse benefits by their federal managing agency, or use the search bar to help you find resources for your needs.

Visit Benefits.gov to find assistance for you and your family. An award-winning multi-agency partnership managed by the U.S. Department of Labor.
